Summer 2021

Summer 2021

Going into the summer of 2021 none of us fully knew what to expect. Not being able to run in person camps since 2019 left all of us on staff missing camp in a big way so, after learning that in-person camp could resume this summer, all of us jumped at the opportunity to return to Silver Lake.

No year at camp is ever a simple affair and 2021 was of course no exception. With prioritizing health and safety while also trying to deliver the best possible experience for the campers, staff this year definitely had their hands full. But watching everyone on staff, and everyone in the community, come together and show so much attention and care for this place that we all love made this summer one to remember.

For me, the highlight was leading the campers in leadership training, or CILT, program. The memories I have from my own CILT experience are some of the fondest memories I have from Silver Lake and getting to be on the otherside of that was an amazing privilege. I think its a testament to the adaptability of the camp community and staff that, despite all the changes that had to happen to our usual programming, the CILT experience was still a massive success. Seeing new leaders come together after a year away from camp and form such a close community makes me very hopeful for Silver Lake's future.

Work Weekend

Pizza!

In 2012 the “Pizza Project” took place at Silver Lake, and the pizza oven was born. Barb, Lydia, Annika and Tim Dyck measured the hole for the base of the oven, carried stones up from the waterfront, prepared the fire bricks and stomped the clay/straw mixture. The family has grown and was back at the pizza oven this past Thanksgiving, sharing delicious pizza! Hard to say how many pizzas have been in that oven but they've all been delicious and the oven has made great memories!

Leaving for Camp in 1968.

I grew up in Toronto and attended Toronto United Mennonite Church. Our family has been involved with Silver Lake from the start. Our father, Nicholas Dick, was a Director in 1964 with Ingrid Neufeld and Jim Reusser. After being a camper in the 60's, I was a canoe leader and CILT leader in the early 70's. My brother Paul is still involved along with my nieces Esther, Sarah and Hannah.

Nate Dick: former staff

What has camp meant to me? Ever since I was six years old, I would attend camp every summer. No matter what else was going on going to Silver Lake would always be the highlight. I loved campfires, nature sessions, Quest (time for campers to learn about Christian faith and big questions) and canoeing. Not only did camp reinforce things I loved, but it was a space that encouraged me to try new things, and expand beyond my comfort zone. Soon, evening games and initiatives would become a favourite, even though I did not enjoy gym class at school.

When I was old enough, I became a CILT and did my practicum. I ended up counselling for two years. Much in the world had changed between my time as a camper and a counsellor. Kids were spending more time online than ever and I was no exception to that. Going to camp was a great break from much of the noise that we pay so much attention to. Whether it was leading songs, talking to the shyer campers, dressing up for a camp game, I can't stress enough how impactful being a staff member has been. It has made me more comfortable with spontaneity and being a little less serious. It has made me realize the importance of a lifelong community of friends, and a faith community that allows space for asking questions.

When you first arrive at Silver Lake the smell of the pine overwhelms your senses. The first thing that many of us do is rush to the bulletin board in the parking lot to see who is working at camp. There we might see a friend or two, and be inundated with hugs. Silver Lake staff were committed to ensuring that campers have the best time participating in camp activities and experience God's beautiful creation. As COVID-19 pandemic ravages the world, the love that the staff have provided fellow campers and staff reminds me of the kind of energy that the world needs now. Loving one another in the face of uncertainty is one of the strongest things we as human beings can do, and I am thankful that Silver Lake has taught me this.

60 Years. $60,000.

Let's Build a CILT Cabin!

The first fundraising campaign of 2021 was greeted with much enthusiasm from the Silver Lake community. The Camper in Leadership Training program (CILTs) has been a cornerstone of the Silver Lake experience and many enjoyed reminiscing about their own CILT years and supporting this Anniversary project. Be sure to visit the CILT Cabin campaign page on our website to see other CILT group photos from the past!

On April 7, a generous donation of $60,000 was announced, made on behalf of the Henry & Nancy Pauls Family, to go towards a second CILT cabin. This tribute fittingly honours Henry's legacy and years of service at Silver Lake.

Fundraiser Update: Thanks to the generosity of many donors, $52,545 has been raised towards rebuilding the CILT cabins and rejuvenating the CILT area. The campaign fund will remain open for now as COVID affects building costs and the total cost may be higher than the original estimate. It's not too late to contribute to this important project!

Building Update: Fall of 2022 has tentatively been set to begin construction on the new CILT cabins.

The Campfire Builders goal is to enlist 60 monthly donors in honour of Silver Lake's Anniversary. Almost halfway there!

The campfire circle is the heart of Silver Lake and this steady support helps that heart beat strongly. Your regular contribution, big or small, will have a significant impact over time.

In the Beginning... 1960

“The first directors of The Corporation to be William Dick, Frederick Neufeld, George Schartner, Peter Lepp, Abe Lepp, John William Neufeld, Rudolph Williams, John Wall and Willie Dick” And so began the story of Silver Lake. We thank God for the inspiration, dedication, vision and skill with which the first directors led camp — and 60 years later, Silver Lake is going strong! Friends of Silver Lake form a strong and vibrant community. Thank you from Silver Lake!
